7. Your Rights

The Article 11 of the Law on data protection gives you certain rights in relation to the data we hold on you. These are:

a) the right to be informed. This means that we must tell you how we use your data, and this is the purpose of this privacy notice;

b) the right of access. You have the right to access the data that we hold on you. To do so, you should make a subject access request. You can read more about this in our Code of Practice for Subject Access Request which is available on our website as outlined above or paper copies can be obtained by mail to our correspondence address mentioned above for the attention of Data Protection Liaison Officer whose contact details are shown at the end of this privacy notice.

c) the right for any inaccuracies to be corrected. If any data that we hold about you is incomplete or inaccurate, you are able to require us to correct it;

d) the right to have information deleted. If you would like us to stop processing your data, you have the right to ask us to delete it from our systems where you believe there is no reason for us to continue processing it;

e) the right to restrict the processing of the data. For example, if you believe the data we hold is incorrect, we will stop processing the data (whilst still holding it) until we have ensured that the data is correct;

f) the right to portability. You may transfer the data that we hold on you for your own purposes;

g) the right to object to the inclusion of any information. You have the right to object to the way we use your data where we are using it for our legitimate interests;

h) the right to regulate any automated decision-making and profiling of personal data. You have a right not to be subject to automated decision-making in way that adversely affects your legal rights.

Where you have provided consent to our use of your data, you also have the unrestricted right to withdraw that consent at any time. Withdrawing your consent means that we will stop processing the data that you had previously given us consent to use. There will be no consequences for withdrawing your consent. However, in some cases, we may continue to use the data where so permitted by having a legitimate reason for doing so.

i) right to make a complaint

Finally, you can lodge a complaint with the supervisory authority responsible (KVKK) for compliance with personal data protection obligations. If your application is declined, the response is found unsatisfactory or the response is not given in due time, the data subject may file a complaint with the supervisory authority within thirty days starting from the notification of the response of the data controller, or within sixty days as of the application date, in any case. Please visit the following web site in order to obtain more information on how you can use your right to make a complaint: <https://www.kvkk.gov.tr/Icerik/2063/Sikayet-Hakki>
